

Andy Roche: Black Iron Vatican

Gallery 400 says . . .

Andy Roche's film-based installation finds a common thread running between the ever-elusive Catholic leftist movement and recent cultural phenomena. Roche juxtaposes images from liberal Catholic communities taking action against social injustice with those of warheads used as musical instruments and the yearly protests at the infamous self-sustaining military compound in Fort Benning, Georgia.